Red Forces In New Move To Trap Germans

May Cut Off 300,000 Nazi Troops From Chance To Escape

SURGE FORWARD IN NORTH CAUCASUS

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
MOSCOW, Jan. 25.—Red army forces in the North Caucasus surged forward today in a distance of 25 miles in a speedy drive designed to cut off 300,000 Nazi troops from escape.

While one column of Soviet troops moved north and west above the Caucasus foothills another struck southwest along the Stalin-grad-Krasnodar railway in an apparent drive to the Black Sea.

The latter column gradually was throwing an arc to the south of Rostov which would sever all communications between the Nazis at the Caucasus gateway city and those faced with entrapment in the south.

Only Avenue Of Escape
The only avenue of escape from the Nazis below Rostov would be across the Kerch Peninsula to the Crimea and even this exit may be blocked if the Soviets can penetrate to the Black Sea coast before the Germans begin a general exodus.

Dozens of additional localities were recaptured by the Russians as they swept unchecked through the northern Caucasus. The Soviet high command declared at noon.

Advances of 30 to 40 kilometers (15 to 25 miles) were scored. 800 Nazis were slain and 100 others taken prisoner, it was said.

On what is known as the southern front, southeast of Rostov, the Russians were storming a strongly defended inhabited locality below captured Peschanokopskoe south of Salsk on the Stalingrad-Krasnodar railway.

Shattering Air Raid On Jap Rabaul Base

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 25.—General Douglas MacArthur's prediction that co-ordinated use of air power will lead to Japan's defeat was underscored today by airmen of his command with heavy blows against enemy positions in the New Guinea theater.

The assaults were highlighted by a shattering raid on Japan's big base at Rabaul, New Britain.

In an offensive sweep throughout the southwest Pacific area yesterday, Allied airmen ranged from Timor in the west to the Solomons Sea in the east, lashing at Japanese installations, shipping and airfields, a headquarters communiqué announced. Nippon's big airdromes at Rabaul and Gasmata, New Britain, and the Roon Gulf area of New Guinea received concentrated assaults that left blazing fires and scattered supplies in their wakes.

Tribute to Airmen
The air offensive was being conducted as Gen. MacArthur, paying tribute to the part played in the successful Papuan drive by Allied airmen, declared that new methods tested under fire during that campaign "point the way to the ultimate (Continued On Page Two)

Axis Forces Face Enemy On Two Sides As Rommel Flees To Tunisia

EIGHTH ARMY MAY ALSO BE IN TUNISIA

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

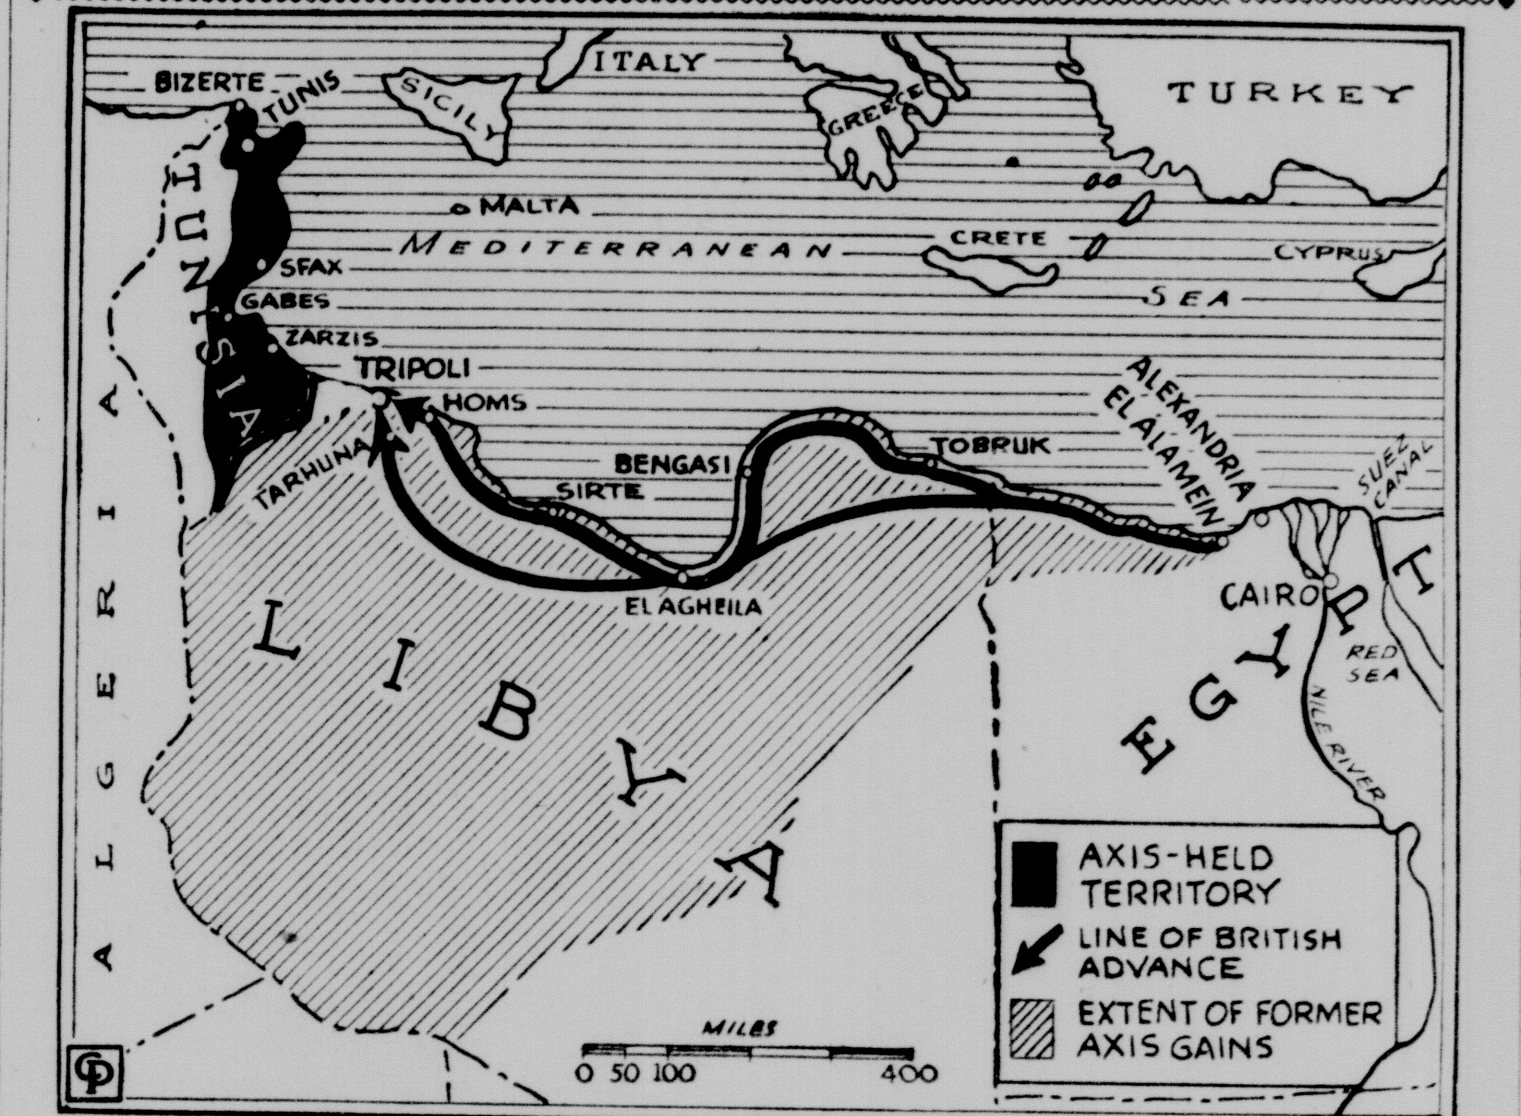

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The fighting in North Africa merged into one battle today as the British Eighth Army continued its relentless pursuit of the Nazi Afrika Korps retreating into Tunisia and Allied forces in the French protectorate hammered Axis units from the west.

The spearhead of the victorious Eighth Army which took Tripoli rapidly approached the Tunisian frontier, and an Allied staff officer was quoted by Reuters as saying it was "extremely likely" that British reconnaissance cars already had crossed into Tunisia.

While General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's battered Afrika Korps made its way along the coastal road in Tunisia for a junction with Axis forces in the Bizerte-Tunis area, heavy skirmishing continued between Allied tanks and troops and the Germans in the Oussetia valley.

Seek to Aid Rommel
The Axis forces in northern Tunisia battled to keep open a coastal corridor to permit passage of Rommel's units for a junction with the estimated 70,000 Axis troops now in the Bizerte-Tunis area. Allied headquarters in North Africa said (Continued On Page Seven)

Axis Armies Being Rolled Back

When the German and Italian North African armies pushed into Egypt months ago, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel promised them they would continue on to the Suez. The Central Press map above shows how the promise backfired. The British Eighth Army now has taken Tripoli, last major city in the former Italian North African empire held by the Axis, as Rommel forces retreat westward to attempt to join other German and Italian troops in Tunisia.

ALLIED BOMBERS AID IN BATTLE

By W. P. SAPHIRE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CAIRO, Jan. 25.—The Axis fled today from the small port of Zuara, 65 miles west of captured Tripoli, under a hail of Allied bombs and machine-gun fire as Britain's victorious Eighth Army continued to move westward in swift pursuit of Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's columns retreating into Tunisia.

Squadrons of Allied fighter-bombers lashed out repeatedly at Axis shipping attempting to put out to sea from Zuara as advanced units of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's mechanized spearhead was reported nearing the port, only 75 miles from the Tunisian frontier.

It was not immediately clear whether the Axis ships were evacuating troops in addition to war materials.

British Advance
An official communiqué from headquarters to Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, Middle East commander, reported that the Eighth army was continuing its advance, battering the Axis rear guard well west of Tripoli.

"Allied fighter-bombers, continuing harassing operations, attacked small shipping attempting to escape from Zuara Harbor," the communiqué said.

Tax Favored

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Brookings Institution, economic research organization, today favored a retail sales tax as a "war emergency measure only," estimating that a 10 per cent levy would raise approximately $5,000,000,000 if there were no exemptions except for housing, education and medical care.

In a special report, the institution said that a sales tax would be more effective than most taxes in stabilizing the price level.

Ex-Private Gets Maximum Sentence

Convicted Of Voluntary Manslaughter In Death Of Aged Woman In Harrisburg

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 25.—The maximum sentence of 6 to 12 years for voluntary manslaughter was imposed today by Judge J. Paul Rupp in the Dauphin county court on Steve Gosciski, 29, of Washington, Pa., who was convicted last week in connection with the death of Mrs. Mabel A. Harris, 73, on September 30.

Before sentencing the defendant, Judge Rupp said he felt that there was sufficient evidence in the case for the jury to have found Gosciski guilty of murder in the second degree. Therefore, he said, he felt that the maximum sentence should be imposed.

Gosciski, an army private, was formerly stationed at the Carlisle barracks.

Governor To Offer Post-War Program

To Make Address Tuesday At Noon

Governor Martin Apparently Satisfied With Existing War-Time Measures

RECOMMENDATIONS WILL BE SUBMITTED

By JOHN PAGET
(N. C. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 25.—Apparently satisfied with existing wartime measures, Gov. Edward Martin today polished his post-war improvement program which the legislature will be asked to adopt before the end of the 1943 session.

The governor will present the 14-point plan to a joint session of the General Assembly tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. The address will be broadcast.

To Have Hearings
The program will probably not be rushed through the legislature as standing committee chairmen are expected to follow normal procedure on major legislation and ask for public hearings on every phase of the governor's proposals. Recommendations received from witnesses will be considered before the final draft is submitted for approval.

A measure introduced by Rep. Robert D. Fleming (R) Allegheny, was expected to provide the framework for the reconstruction program. It calls for the appointment of a 15-member commission to supervise the post-war plan.

Long-Range Plan
The proposal, which has been given the stamp of approval by the leaders of the Republican-dominated legislature, directs the commission to draft a long-range public works program to "reduce and eliminate as much as possible the destructive economic dislocations of the post-war period."

Governor Martin has not disclosed the exact recommendations he will submit to the legislators but it is believed he would follow the broad proposals of the Fleming bill which covered flood control, highway reconstruction, veterans' bonus, social disease control, extension of vocational education, slum clearance, anti-stream pollution, and business readjustment to peace-time production.

RED FORCES IN NEW MOVE TO TRAP GERMANS

The important junction of Tikhoretsk where the Stalingrad line crosses the Rostov-Baku railway. New advances were made on this front after the Soviets crushed desperate counter-attacks by the Nazis. On one sector two additional large infantry divisions were liberated. Soviet armies pressing toward Khar'kov from the Middle Don region almost met stiff resistance but the opposition failed to stem the offensive and several localities were seized in this push.

"One locality changed hands several times. The enemy was routed in hand-to-hand fighting and lost a battalion in killed and wounded before retreating."

Advance In Ukraine

A column of Soviet forces moving westward through the Ukraine north of Khar'kov and south of Kursk from the Voronezh area annihilated one group of encircled Nazi forces and captured 1,100 before moving in to occupy an unnamed locality. The advances into the Ukraine have rolled the Germans back almost to the point from where they began their offensive which carried them as far east as Stalingrad.

Weekend drives over the whole southern battle front enabled the Russians to recapture some 60 towns and villages which had been under German control for the past several months.

A southern arm of the multiple drive on Khar'kov smashed forward through German defense lines and captured Stanovsk, 130 miles southeast of the Ukraine city. Another Soviet force pressed its way into the territory of the Ukraine by seizing Belovodsk, 40 miles northwest of Millerovo.

Starobelsk which had been strongly fortified by the Germans was taken after the Soviets stormed the town and battled the Nazis in the streets.

The magnitude of the enemy reverses on this front was emphasized by the announcement that one Soviet unit on this front accounted for 2,500 German dead and destroyed 40 tanks.

DOGWOOD

Farm woodland owners who have commercial size dogwood trees in their timber lands suitable for shuttle blocks can help prevent bottlenecks in the textile industry by selling the dogwood timber now.

Rite Cathedral Sunday evening brought the thought, that with such a splendid auditorium for performances and public gatherings available, in an accessible central location, that it is too bad there are not more occasions that justify making use of it.

Despite the ban on use of autos, and other handicaps, the usual large crowd gathered at the Cathedral last night to attend the baccalaureate service of the January graduating class of New Castle senior high school.

Judging from some of the talk heard around the city, there are still some people who haven't as yet realized that the United States is at war—fighting in the greatest war of all history.

Immediately after the close of the Sunday morning service an air raid drill was carried out at the First Baptist church, which proved quite successful, with the auditorium vacated in six minutes. There was splendid cooperation.

months ago and have been blasting Jap invasion troops on Kiska island whenever weather permits. Conservative navy men warn that the Japs still are not defeated, but they assert that American successes through superior strategy have forced the enemy to squander his manpower and resources on battles not of his own choosing.

Prior to the American seizure of Guadalcanal, the Japs were bent on a campaign of aggression aimed at cutting U. S. supply lines to Australia.

Forced To Change

The American offensive in the southern Solomons has forced the Japanese to divert valuable troops and war materials into that area to regain ground lost in their first major reverses of the Pacific conflict.

While the Japs have been striking back with greater force in the air recently, battle reports indicate that U. S. forces still are in control of the skies and sealanes in the Guadalcanal area.

The Japanese have attempted another thrust against Guadalcanal, but the belief is growing in Washington that the enemy has waited too long and that from now on the U. S. land, sea and air units will continue their offensive toward Tokyo.

If Nature balances things, why is it that the person who gets the floor by talking loudest has least to say.

RAE-RICHARDS WEDDING SATURDAY

Before the altar of the Central Christian church, East Long avenue, a pretty wedding was solemnized when Miss Virginia Rae, daughter of Mrs. Alex Rae, of Springdale, became the bride of Seaman Second Class Trevor Richards Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Richards, of 1002 East Washington street, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A number of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, the pastor, officiated, using the single ring service.

The bride was lovely in a soldier blue street length dress, with a shoulder corsage of gardenias and tea roses. As maid of honor, Miss Shirley White, was attired in a Harding blue street dress, with an identical shoulder corsage.

Seaman Second Class Joe Smith of Spring street was best man.

Appropriate organ selections were played by Miss Mildred Comewood.

A reception followed and a wedding supper was later served at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride will reside with the groom's parents, and her husband will return soon to Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Chicago, Ill.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Alex Rae, mother of the bride, and Watkin Hughes and Mrs. Olive White, grandfather and aunt of the bridegroom of Springdale.

DOROTHY MAHER BRIDE OF LIEUT. JAMES ROTE

Appropriate nuptial selections, chanted by the boys vested choir in St. Mary's church to music and chimes sounded by Frank S. Gribben, organist, added to the impressiveness of the beautiful wedding ceremony solemnized on Saturday morning, January 23, the principals being Miss Dorothy Frances Maher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Maher of 615 West Washington street, and Lieut. James Russell Rote of Fort Monmouth, N. J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rote of Patterson avenue, this city.

The altar, set off in the glow of stately lighted Cathedral candles in branching candelabrum, was further enhanced with an artistic arrangement of palms, ferns and white pompons, concealing the entire chancel. Before this setting, the vows were exchanged with Rev. Francis M. McCarter officiating, with the single ring service, in the presence of a throng of guests.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, John J. Maher, who gave her in marriage, the bride was at once girlish and dignified in her white satin wedding gown, made en train, with heart shaped neckline and long sleeves with pointed cuffs. Her illusion veil cascaded from a coronet of rhinestones and seed pearls, and she carried a treasured white prayer book, used by her sister, Mrs. Francis J. Quinn at her wedding. A single white orchid tied with white streamers knotted with bits of fern, adorned the cover. A single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, was the bride's only jewelry.

As her sister's only attendant, Miss Patricia J. Maher chose a frosted rose fault gown, made similar of that worn by the bride. It was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, and bracelet length sleeves. Her headress was of dubonnet velvet with matching streamers reaching nearly to the hemline. She carried an arm cluster of Briar-cliff roses and acacia tied with ribbon to match her attire.

Cousin of the bride, Pte. Thomas J. Maher of Carlisle Barracks, Pa., served as best man. Ushers were Francis J. Quinn and T. Dale Young.

Retiring to the rear of the church the newlyweds received congratulations of their host of friends. Following a wedding breakfast for the bridal party, immediate families and out of town guests numbering forty, was served in the Coral room of The Castleton.

Later in the afternoon, a reception was held at the Maher residence, with a buffet lunch being served from a table centered with a tiered cake, topped with a bride and groom in miniature.

Lieut. and Mrs. Rote left later for Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, to take up residence, where he will continue his military training. For traveling, the bride donned a smartly tailored Cardinal red suit with black topcoat and black and white accessories. A white orchid shoulder corsage completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Rote, a graduate of Seton Hill college, has been employed by the Strauss-Hirschberg company here. The bridegroom, affiliated with the Shenango Pottery, prior to entering the U. S. service, recently received his commission as a lieutenant at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Since news of the couple's engagement was made known, a series of parties and shows have been given in the bride's honor. A magnificent array of beautiful gifts received by the couple, were shown at the bride's home Saturday.

Before the approach of the bridal party, Mrs. Walter Shaw, and Louella Walters, soloists, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because," accompanied by Miss Helen Ewing, church organist. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played as the professional, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the recessional. Throughout the ceremony appropriate music was heard.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a navy blue sheer ensemble, with navy blue picture hat, and waist-length corsage of white gardenias. ### TO DRIVE THE JAPS NORTHWARD

AMERICAN MARINES, who have made one of the most heroic records of this war, have been relieved on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons by Army troops and apparently went elsewhere for a rest. They have richly earned it.

It is satisfying to know that this has been done and that our military situation permitted assignment of a new batch of fighting men to take over. These, under Major General Patch, seem to have lost little time coming to grips with the enemy and inflicting heavy damage on him. Indicative of the desperate character of the fighting, 1032 Japanese were killed in five days of battling up to January 17 in vigorous drives to clear the enemy forces from heights near Henderson Field.

American Army soldiers, like the Marines, are proving tough jungle fighters, both on Guadalcanal and teamed up with the Australians on Papua.

It is to be hoped that additional forces can be made available in the South Pacific to complete the elimination of the Japs from the Solomons and New Guinea and to begin to strike powerfully at them in their strongholds to the north.

NEW U-BOAT MENACE

With the fortunes of war favoring the United Nations on practically every front, it may be a good time to pause for a glance at the darker side of the picture.

What has been happening in Russia is a preliminary to the real task of driving the Germans out of their strong anchor positions. What has been happening in North Africa is a preliminary to the truly frightful task of engaging the Axis, particularly Germany on its own terrain. Only military men realize fully the tremendous effort and sacrifice which will be demanded of American and Allied young men during the next ten months.

But there is also another menace which threatens to make itself increasingly felt. During the last few months Hitler has been concentrating on the construction of U-boats. In concrete-protected slips practically invulnerable to bombing attack, he is building an estimated twenty to thirty submarines a month. By spring he may have between 500 and 700 U-boats to throw against Allied shipping—bigger and more deadly prowlers than the Allies have had to deal with in the past.

A. V. Alexander, first lord of the British admiralty, has warned the men of the royal navy that they can expect the "greatest attacks on our sea communications" in history.

As it is impossible to reach the German submarines at their source, the construction yards, the only alternative is to provide better protection for convoys. That must come partly through an increase of sea power, especially in destroyers, and of air power.

This year will see Germany's greatest and final bid for supremacy. If Hitler succeeds in breaking Allied supply lines, the conflict will drag on, perhaps interminably, but if his U-boats can be destroyed faster than he can build them and train crews, the tremendously improved position of Allied land forces coupled with an effective supply system may signalize the imminent end of the Nazi regime.

HITLER'S RESTIVE ALLIES

Initial signs that the Axis is weakening are beginning to appear in those quarters where they should logically be expected—among the unwilling allies of the "new order" who have nothing to gain from the war unless the Nazis are defeated.

In so far as the Balkan nations are concerned, the alliance with Germany was not a voluntary arrangement. They were at the mercy of the Nazis and were whipped into line, yielding their men, their food and their freedom to a merciless overlord, knowing that even in the event of victory they would be reduced to vassalage.

It is only now that the outside world is beginning to learn something of the true state of affairs in the Balkan countries, where among the allies of Hitler conditions are better than those existing in the conquered lands of Greece and Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary face extinction as nations. Their lands are overrun by the Nazis, their possessions are seized, their people sent into the reich. Their armies are consumed in the red maw of the Eastern Front.

In Hungary the internal crisis is particularly acute, according to information obtained by the United Nations from authoritative sources, due to the increasing belief among military and political leaders that Germany's defeat is inevitable, a belief which is strengthened by the knowledge that six of the nine Hungarian divisions sent to Russia have been destroyed.

Some credence may accordingly be given reports of peace demonstrations in Hungary, which was the granary of the central powers in the First World War and has served in a similar capacity for the ravenous Nazis in the present conflict.

In lands whose people live under an iron heel, where even a murmur of discontent is stifled ruthlessly, peace demonstrations must be regarded as significant. Hitler's allies are becoming restive under the yoke.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON—Rep. Doughton, D-N.C., chairman house ways and means committee, calling for early classification of the nation's tax program: "There is a lot of confusion about the Ruml plan. Many persons are getting the impression they won't even have to file income tax returns this year. I never have seen anything like it. There are too many tax doctors and too much confusion."

NEW YORK—Harrison H. Spangler, chairman of the Republican national committee, predicting a growth of Republican strength throughout the country: "The people are beginning to know what the New Deal is."

The government should trust your patriotism instead of using force; but alas the virtuous must endure laws made for the lawless.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HOME HAS DANGERS FOR CHILD

When we consider all the hazards a child must face in growing up, we often wonder how it is that so many do grow up and keep whole. No matter how well a baby or tot is protected or trained in good habits of safety, he will be faced with many unforeseen perils.

Yet we parents can protect the youngster from the most common hazards familiar to all of us and educate him gradually to be alert for self-protection against most dangers which will face him unexpectedly.

Danger Of Suffocation

One familiar danger to the infant, even the tot of two, is suffocation from entanglement in his bedding.

The baby can roll off a bed when he is a few months old and may be in great danger of falling if left alone on a regular bed after the age of six months. As soon as he can pull himself to a standing position, he may be able to shake loose the side of a crib not securely fastened and after a year or so more may climb out over it, unless he is properly trained.

The baby carriage and high chair have their hazards. The cautious mother has a strong secure harness for her baby in the high chair or carriage from the time he is six months old or earlier. This harness should have shoulder straps. It can be purchased, or made from broad heavy strips of cloth by the thrifty mother. As soon as the baby can creep and climb, he faces added hazards. Keep him in a baby pen part of the time. Let him climb only in safe places. He may find all sorts of small objects on the floor.

Keep lead pencils from the baby and lead. Give him soft crayons. Instead, as soon as he can use them and will not eat them. Protect him from putting clothespins and the like into his mouth as he moves about. When he does, gently induce him to give the object to you. Follow the same rule when he has a pin or any other foreign article in his mouth. If you snatch it from him he may try to swallow it or run with it if then or the next time. Always be sure to teach him to keep sharp things, hot liquids and the like out of the baby's reach.

Never Blame The Baby

In the safety cases we have considered here there is no place for rebuke or punishment. The responsibility rests solely on you. Later we shall consider perils to the young child which he should be trained by means of pain to avoid, discussed quite at length in my special bulletin, "How To Teach Tot Meaning of No," to be had without cost to you by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Since there is danger that the baby left to cry it out might suffocate as he struggles, would you advise never letting him cry it out?

A. No; you can guarantee his safety by being in close hearing distance and checking carefully on his safety.

Q. Should parents wear old clothes in order to dress their high school daughter well?

A. No. This is harmful to the moral character and personality of the daughter.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

A friend said to me a few weeks ago:

"You literary people must lead a tremendously interesting life."

"You have so many experiences so many things to talk about. I wish I could sit in with you folks at luncheon sometime and just listen to your conversation."

"Hm," I said to myself, "exciting lives? Literary? Interesting?"

Some of us newspaper folks don't think of ourselves as literary men at all, you see.

We consider ourselves more as bricklayers. They put bricks together—brick after brick, brick after brick, to make a building. We put words together, word after word, word after word, to make a story.

But, at any rate, as long as we have that reputation I thought I'd watch one of our luncheons (show, we call 'em), and see what we really do talk about.

So there we were. An editor, a fiction writer, a cartoonist, a war correspondent and myself.

We talked a lot, of course. The editor complained about the difficulty of getting butter. And he liked butter so much, he said.

The fiction writer wanted to know the best place to get a hat. His was all worn out. And, by the way, did we know anybody who was bootlegging gasoline coupons? (We didn't.)

The cartoonist was having an awful lot of trouble with his oil. His family was freezing so much that he bought a kerosene stove and put it right in the living room.

The war correspondent complained about all the traveling he had to do. Why couldn't he be a carpenter or have himself a nice little delicatessen store?

And I told 'em how my wife, after weeks of trying, finally got a roast beef. And how on Saturday I had it hot, on Sunday cold, on Monday hash and on Tuesday the dog ate the rest.

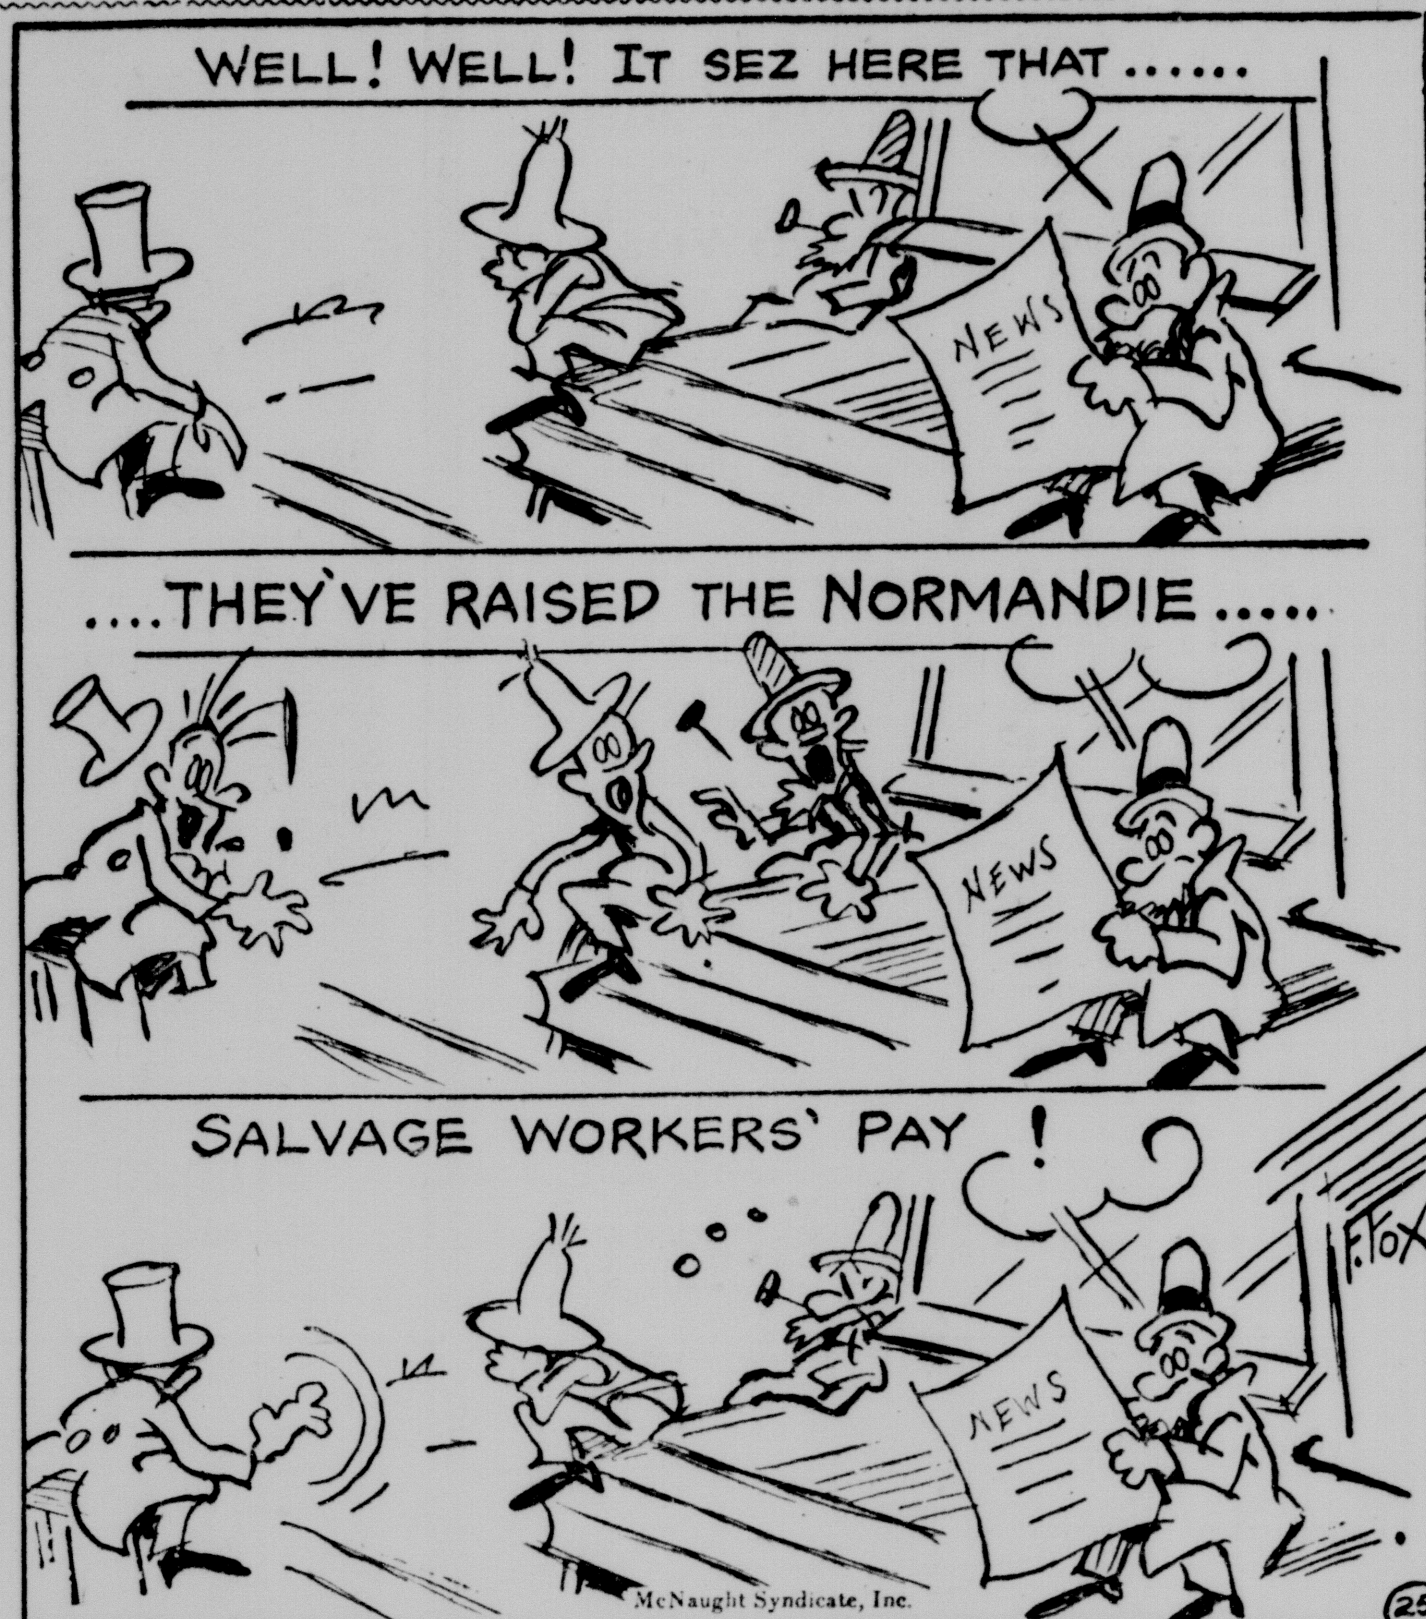

Then we finally got down to the usual main topic of the day: Women.

Ain't some of us newspaper folks interesting?

Grandma in 1960: "Them was hard times. I even got so we had to slice our own bread."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:10. Sun rises tomorrow 6:15.

A Pittsburgh man is suing his wife for divorce because she ran around with other men, and threw everything she could lay her hands on at him. Good thing there was no axe around the house.

Some people have found out that oleomargarine is mighty good when they cannot get anything they like better.

Life's a doggone funny thing. The average woman will complain that she hasn't enough wardrobe space to put her clothes, and then she'll turn around and kick because she hasn't enough clothes to wad a shotgun.

Where's the bread-knife?

"This quarter is no good—it won't ring," said the clerk at the corner cigar store.

"What do you want for two bits ... chimes?"

Corporal Damon: "They say brunettes have sweeter dispositions than blondes."

Corporal Pythias: "My girl's been both, and I can't see any difference."

A lot of family trees would look better if they were trimmed.

Coward: A man whose parents said to him, "If you ever have a fight, you'll get licked when you get home."

Rationing will be an unholly mess until local boards courageously distinguish between patriots and chisellers.

A free land is one where men keep trying to make laws that will make them behave better than they will.

These days a lot of people don't know what to do and don't know anyone who can tell them what to do.

We admit that some terrible things appear in this column, but it would be worse if we printed the things we are told.

We notice that Gov. Martin also has some newspaper men in his cabinet. He is clever.

Parental indifference and neglect are the cause of more degeneracy and crime than alcohol or drugs. In the homes of the rich it produces a generation of introverts with inferiority complexes or of lonely adolescents who easily surrender to the influences of evil companionship.

Parents who devote a period of each day to free camaraderie with their youngsters keep them stimulated with the thrill of importance. The parents who orphan their children's happiness are those who repeatedly tell them with, "Don't bother me now, because I'm busy reading," "I must dress to go out," "You'll muss my hair," etc. etc.

Many such youngsters find but one bright spot in the day's program—the children's hour on the radio.

Question: Should a girl who has received an invitation to a wedding reception take her niece along with her? The fiancé did not receive an invitation.—Louise

The bride should have sent your fiancé an invitation. Since she did not, I do not see that he is entitled to go. Whether you attend without him is for you to decide. But if you go at all, you should go alone.

We noted in the paper the other day that a new hotel clerk damped with a large amount of money after working only a few days. This reminds us of a similar incident. The restaurant cashier had absconded with the day's receipts, a goodly amount.

"I'm afraid our new cashier is dishonest," sadly remarked one of the restaurant partners.

"And I can't understand it," said the other. "But maybe it isn't that bad. After all, we can't judge by appearances."

"But I'm judging by disappearance in this case," muttered the first partner.

There are many people who have unsuspected ability. They don't even know it themselves.

Radio "soap opera" is silly by choice. It is the only kind of stuff that won't offend anybody's prejudices.

To busy housewives, the radio is like a family. They can enjoy its company without listening to what it says.

Post War Plans Are Held Premature
Warring View Supported By Congress
United Nations Might Have Problems

By CHARLES P. STEWART

CENTRAL PRESS COLUMNIST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—American Legion Commander Roane Waring's warning that now's too soon for the United Nations' leaders to be discussing post-war plans is finding a deal of support in congressional circles, on the ground that we'd do a lot better to concentrate 100 per cent upon a guarantee of "absolute victory" as soon as possible than to distract our attention with arguments concerning ultimate peacetime bargaining.

Commander Waring, in particular, made a great hit with his declaration that what's coming will have to be a "dictated" rather than a "negotiated" peace.

Everybody understood what that meant—that the United Nations will do the dictating, with the Axis powers denied the right to a single chirp on a negotiational basis. From that thesis there is no dissent.

The difficulty, however, is that the United Nations' spokesmen are likely to have considerable negotiating to do among themselves. If they get into a premature wrangle involving their own respective countries' ultimate policies, it will tend to disunite their joint military effort while the fight rages.

Having won, as Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana remarks, it will be the permissible juncture for us to disagree as to the balance of eternity.

I have previously had occasion to observe that Uncle Sam and John Bull can't imaginably clash for a long, long time, but the U. S. A. and Russia may be on precarious terms for quite a spell after the current rumpus wears off. Their rival philosophies are too conflicting, Senator Wheeler says so also.

What About China?
And China? Chiang Kai-shek seems democratic, but how long will he last? His civilized folk are wonderful people, but how generally are they civilized?

Senator C. M. Reed of Iowa is authority for the contention that it's a "damned sight better to win the war than to start discussing peace." The proposition is that, if the latter's done over early, it simply will DELAY peace.

The issue isn't solely international, either.

Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the United States Social Security board maintains that now is the ideal moment to establish an economic Utopia in our own land—no more hard times ever again, no more unemployment, no more family hardship.

President Walter D. Fuller of the Curtis Publishing company gives this dope the ha-ha, on the ground that it involves universal national insurance, and that a satisfactory form of which is absolutely impossible.

Albert Linton, who as president of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance company, ought to know what he's talking about, agrees with Walter Fuller.

Insurance, points out Linton, has to be paid for by its prospective beneficiaries. They don't get any extra money out of it, though.

According to financiers like Commander Waring, President Fuller and Linton and Senators Wheeler and Reed, we won't be much better off for it, on an average. Indeed, we will be worse off, pessimists allege, as the pinch sets in.

Experts such as Chairman Altmeyer of USSSB deny that there will be a pinch, but it will be a wonder the time isn't.

The experts' reasonable argument is that our only national method of paying off our federal indebtedness, theoretically by degrees, will be by enormous issues of unguaranteed greenback currency, which will look pretty but will be pretty shy on buying value.

One of my unofficial correspondents refers to it as a "shell game".

We are buying "priorities," he says, on gold bricks.

The World and the Mud Puddles

RUBBER AND GAS

Citizens of the United States living in cities located upon the Mexican Border and having a business which requires their constant attention in Mexico, present a very curious picture in connection with the gasoline and rubber situation in this country.

I know a chap who has lived in San Diego most of his life and who is financially interested in a Tungsten Mine in Lower California. He is the moving genius in developing this mine and that requires his presence at the mine a large part of the year.

The mine is located about twenty miles east of Ensenada, a distance of one hundred miles from the border, and in order to take care of the business, he not only has to be present at the mine, but he has to oversee the shipments of this very valuable commodity to the United States and Canada, for the use of this country.

Canada and our Allies in the war. As it is necessary for him to be here, there and everywhere, it necessitates the use of an automobile. To meet his situation, he buys an automobile in Mexico. It is equipped with tires sold in Mexico. It is run for the most part with gasoline bought in Mexico. The car is licensed by the government of Mexico, and being a citizen of the United States this chap has no trouble in crossing the border at any time that it becomes necessary.

He tells me that a 1942 automobile of most any make can be purchased in Mexico; that there is no limit on the purchase of tires and gasoline necessary to operate such an automobile.

An ordinary citizen of this country may drive over into Mexico with his automobile licensed by the state in which he lives—California, for instance—but the government of the United States steps in and confiscates his automobile should he dare equip that automobile with new tires bought in Mexico.

For a short time following the rationing of gasoline in this country, citizens of San Diego flocked to Tia Juana, Mexico, to fill up their gasoline tanks. The Mexican government co-operated with our government to the extent of making an order denying the sale of gasoline to anyone driving an automobile bearing a license from any state of the Union—so that was that.

But this order was not made because there was any scarcity of gasoline in Mexico. The method by which Mexican tire dealers are able to purchase tires made in the United States is not disclosed, but the Mexicans make rubber tires of their own and they are pretty good tires.

In fact, our friend tells me that they are just about as good tires as have been made in the United States, and Mexico has not been backward in developing the making of synthetic rubber. The government of this nation has not only neglected to see that synthetic rubber was made, but for more than a year past have dilly-dallied with the question of synthetic rubber and have not been willing to give the proper priority to those who wish to engage in the manufacture of synthetic rubber.

With our national government seemingly bent upon developing in this nation a socialistic-communistic, if you will—government, it is not so difficult to understand why it refuses to conduct the business of the nation in a manner calculated to preserve our great business institutions.

Why Widow Wants To Speed Up War

Lancaster Woman Enrolls For War Training For Seven Excellent Reasons

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Mary Dengate, a widow with four children, has just enrolled in a war training course conducted by the Pennsylvania State College in Lancaster.

Mrs. Dengate is looking forward to employment in a job that will help to speed the war to a close. Asked why she had enrolled in the course in operations inspection, she replied:

"I have many reasons for wanting the war to end."

Here they are:

1. Her son, Sergeant Frank Dengate, is an army radio operator.

2. Her daughter is employed in the War department, Washington.

3. Her brother, Col. Frederick A. McMahon, is chief of ordnance in Cincinnati, Ohio.

4. Her niece, Mrs. Jack Hair, and Mrs. Hair's 18-month old child are prisoners of the Japanese in Manila.

5. A nephew, Corporal John Murphy, is stationed in Hawaii.

6. Another nephew, Leo Murphy, is in the Army Air Force in Texas.

7. A third nephew will graduate from Holy Cross next month and expects to be called immediately for army service.

Mrs. Dengate's father fought in the Civil war.

Gardeners Can Learn Vegetable Raising

New Correspondence Course No. 83, Penn State, Is Free For Victory Growers

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 25.—Backyard gardeners will be further aided by the Pennsylvania State college with the preparation of a correspondence course in "home vegetable gardening."

"First study your seed catalog," advises Professor W. R. White, in charge of agricultural correspondence courses. "Then, if you don't know how to grow the common vegetables, enroll in course No. 83."

Food, he points out, may be a greater wartime problem next winter than at present, and there is still time to start this correspondence course before work on the soil should begin.

The course in home gardening is free, along with 46 other courses in various phases of agriculture and home economics. Application blanks may be obtained by writing to Agricultural Correspondence courses, The Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

Several Plan To Raise Chickens

One Also Plans To Raise Ducks; Natural Water Course Available

Don't feel alarmed should you see a man in a rear yard next summer uttering a guttural "Here, chick! Here chick!" because he will be probably just one of many who plan to "raise their own meat" and eggs.

Several men who live in the North Hill district today said their wartime contribution to the larger will be construction of chicken coops and rearing of chickens.

A fee of 50 cents is charged a chicken-grower. The chicken coop must be 25 feet from the nearest house. However, they dare not become a nuisance—therefore a good pen or coop is required.

One professional man expressed his plan to raise bantams. Another said he would raise Rhode Island Reds. "Plymouth Rocks for me," asserted another.

"There's a natural water course in the rear of my home so I am going to raise a few ducks," replied another.

Judging, if the foregoing intentions are carried out, the city poultryman has arrived at one answer to a "meat" shortage.

RECESS

Periods of rest and relaxation are a good thing. Teachers know that pupils do better work if they have a little diversion occasionally.

If Dad can have a few minutes rest at noon, he will feel better. If Jimmie can have a nap in the afternoon he will be a stronger boy and better natured too.

Some countries have a regular recess at some time in the day. Some have it at noon, others later. Five minutes for recuperation will help some.

Some companies have found that it pays to give the workers a vacation. They insist that the time be spent in recuperation. They wisely do not allow him to collect vacation pay and use the vacation time for extra work.

A change of occupation sometimes acts somewhat like recreation. A teacher may be able to work on a machine after school to advance.

The real post-war danger is that we'll go back to isolation—that is, sleep at home while bandits plan another one.

Most teachers have so much paper work to do after school that they do not have much time to spare.

Mental work is harder than physical. A music teacher is more tired at the end of the day than a hod carrier.

Usually the preparation and preaching of a sermon takes more out of a man than much more time spent digging a ditch.

Some people need more rest and often than others. The rigid 8 hour day does not fit every one.

Some workers can do as much work in 6 hours as they can in 8, others need 8 hours to do a 6 hour job.

TESTS HERE TUESDAY

Prospective motor car operators will be given a driving test by the State Motor police Tuesday afternoon at nine a. m. and operators should arrive as soon as possible.

Tests will be given in the order of arrival. Should snow or ice cover streets, chains must be attached, it was stated.

The real post-war danger is that we'll go back to isolation—that is, sleep at home while bandits plan another one.

IN THE ARMY they say:

"HAY BURNERS" for cavalry horses

"JUGHEAD" for the Army mule

"CHICKENS" for the eagle insignia of a colonel

"CAMEL" for the Army man's favorite cigarette

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Warning that America is "still too complacent about food," Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today said that consumers can expect tighter rationing of many foods in 1943.

However, the food czar predicted in his annual report to President Roosevelt the average American on the home front will eat as well this year as he did in the 1930's. "Nutrition value" of consumers food supply will be about the same as in the depression decade.

Although he did not list the products to be rationed, Wickard said down to strict necessity. "In part," he declared, the degree of rationing depends on the shipping situation.

Discuss Plans For Recruitment Of Army Nurses

Special Hours Will Be Established By Red Cross To Accommodate Applicants

At a meeting of the Nurses Recruitment committee of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, of which Mrs. Walter W. Duff, is chairman, which took place at the Jameson Memorial hospital Friday, plans were made to have special office hours at the chapter office to accommodate applicants, which will be announced later.

The American Red Cross has been placed entirely in charge of the recruitment of nurses for the armed forces, Mrs. Duff states, and a large number of nurses are still badly needed in all branches of the service, as the territory served by the armed forces continues to expand.

Reports Jap Flyers Chained To Planes When Shot Down

(International News Service)

DENVER, Jan. 25.—Lt. Chung Tao, leader of a class of nine "Flying Dragons" of China, just graduated from the Lowry Field air forces photography school, disclosed today that there was little basis for the story that Japanese are eager to die for their emperor.

Lt. Tao and his companions who have had combat experience in China prior to their training at Lowry Field observed, "We have shot down Jap pilots chained to their cockpits. Perhaps Hirohito does not rely too much on fanaticism."

AROUND CITY HALL

Some excellent pen sketches of wild life have been drawn by Owen Penfield Fox. They have been appearing in the Sun-Tele sports section. In a recent discussion of bird life the city forester, who knows bird and animal life, said cardinals could be coaxed to stay around were sunflower seed made a portion of their menu.

Under present conditions a prospective builder can build a chicken coop for a 50 cents permit and the same price goes for a several million dollars structure. . .
Should the city decide upon adding a building inspector to the city payroll, possibility exists that the fee for construction would be
"upped" to help the city raise money for his salary.

If there is one clerk in the city building who sees cards to the right left, north and south of her, she is Myra Nixon, health bureau.
But she isn't the only one. The others are attaches of the mayor's office who must decipher parking tags, looking up car ownerships then mail out letters to those who sometimes speculate wrongly that the police will forget about it.

There's room for correction in the sidewalk situation. Once the city serves notice upon a property-owner that he has a bad sidewalk and it should be repaired or replaced thence the city out of paying damages for future injuries incurred by a fall. If the city did the work it could be charged against the property-owner but seldom has the city gone that far.

It is not compulsory for food and drink dispensers to be examined by the city health doctor. They may obtain from the health bureau a form, pay $1.00 for the license and be examined by a private physician. C. C. Coulthard, manager of Cascade Park where skating on the lake is under way, said today another floodlight could be used.

Instead of playing nine holes, golfers will walk 11 holes next summer, said Sam Haycock, popular Sylvan Heights golf course manager, today. "The two extra holes will be the walk to and from the bus at the end of the East Side line," he asserted, then ejaculated:
"Oh, shucks, this course is going to do lots of business, despite gas rationing."

City mercantile tax bill has not yet been enacted into ordinance.
Music boxes will be licensed under its provisions. . . More than 500 persons have been examined by city health bureau attaches as to their fitness to occupy such a job.

No doubt the city will insist that the county of Lawrence put the bridge floors in good condition as soon as weather conditions permit.
Water which crept beneath the wood-blocks allegedly caused Grant and South Mill street bridges to
"buckle". . . City Meter Operator
Arthur Harris has not yet completed the count of last collection of nickels from the slots.

Council has changed the system of paying the plumbing inspector.
Before this year he received $125
monthly and with commissions averaged about $150 monthly. Recently council and Mayor Charles B. Mayne pow-wowed and the salary was set at $185.00 monthly.

Dr. W. A. Womer, city health superintendent, today reported tests are continuing of persons who handle food and beverages here.

They may be examined either at the city laboratory or by their own physician.
The private physician can send a sample of the person's blood either to the city laboratory or to any approved laboratory and the latter's report will be accepted, Womer explained.

He issued the foregoing statement in view of the belief by some that all samples of blood had to be submitted to the city bureau.

Errol Flynn To Present Defense

Film Star Seeks To Get Exoneration On Charges Of Attacking Girls

By JULIAN HARTT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—The Errol Flynn trial moved into its third week today as Chief Counsel Jerry Giesler called the first defense witness in the film star's fight for exoneration of charges he attacked two teen-age girls.

Giesler said the first witness to take the stand in Flynn's behalf would be Hubert Oliver, Army corporal who was a deckhand on the yacht "Sirocco" in 1941, when Peggy Larue Satterlee, 16, claims she was twice assaulted by the star.

Striking a sharp note of contrast to the holiday aspect of the crowds of women who have filed the corridor daily, Giesler insisted:

"This is no show. We want no compromise. We deny every charge."
Giesler expected to question a parade of some 10 defense witnesses within two or three days, climax-ing his case with the testimony of the Irish-blooded, 33-year-old actor.

Flynn, meanwhile, promised that his testimony would be "frank and personal."

"I've waited three months to tell my story," he said. "Now it's my turn."

Now everything in Washington is properly guarded, except tongues.

Hunt Clues In Murder Of Woman In Pullman Berth

Oregon Officers Hunt For Slayer

Lack Of Apparent Motive For Crime Baffles Police In Search

WOMAN IS SLAIN IN SLEEPING BERTH

(International News Service)
EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 25.—The murder in lower 13-a mystery thriller brought to life aboard the Southern Pacific limited—assumed even more aspects of its fictional forerunner today as police met a blank wall in their search for the slayer.

The victim, comely Mrs. Martha V. James, 21, of Seattle, Wash., wife of a Navy fighter pilot, was slain in berth lower 13 as the train sped through the night between Portland and Eugene early Saturday. Her throat was cut by a mysterious assailant described by pullman passengers as a dark complexioned man wearing a brown pin-stripe suit.

Lack Of Motive
Since Mrs. James' night gown clad body was found in the car aisle by passengers and trainmen aroused by her piercing scream, the case has been further complicated. Police and railroad investigators were baffled by the apparent lack of any motive, and by the fact that a thorough search has failed to uncover the murder weapon, a dull, jagged instrument which severed the woman's jugular.

Money in the amount of $112 and other valuables in the victim's purse had not been disturbed, and Dr. Joseph Beckman, head of the Oregon State Crime Laboratory, said an examination showed Mrs. James had not been criminally attacked. The unidentified assailant, about whose appearance passengers were not agreed in detail, was seen scurrying from the car after Mrs. James screamed. The murder was committed shortly before the train reached Tangent, and police ordered a dragnet spread out over the snow-covered roads in the belief the killer may have leaped from the train as it slowed for the town.

District Attorney Harlow L. Weinreich of Linn county, issued a Joe Doe warrant for the killer's arrest. Meantime, two men, a marine private and a dining car waiter, were being held at Eugene as material witnesses. They are Pvt. Harold R. Wilson of San Diego, and John Punched of Oakland, Cal., negro porter, State Police Lieut. R. G. Howard emphasized that there was no evidence "directly linking either with the crime."

Wilson, who occupied the berth above that of the slain woman, said he saw the killer flee from the car. He said he was awakened by a woman's scream. He poked his head through the berth curtains to see a man jump out of Mrs. James' berth and run toward the rear of the car. He described the man as between 30 and 40 years old, of medium height, 170 to 180 pounds, dark complexion and kinky hair, and dressed in a brown suit.

He chased the killer toward the rear of the train, Wilson said, but lost him after dashing through four cars. The marine also told police he found a blood-stained towel in the last car.

Other passengers who saw the murderer agreed on his general description, but some thought he was a negro other that he was a white man of dark complexion. They are also in disagreement about the scream which awakened them.

Some said Mrs. James screamed, "My God! He's going to murder me." Others believed she screamed, "I'm being killed."

Capt. Thos. G. Stevenson Tells Of North Africa

From Captain Thomas G. Stevenson, who is stationed in North Africa, has come a letter of general interest that has been received by several of the writer's many acquaintances in New Castle. His letter, which is dated January 3, gives a colorful and comprehensive description of his impressions of North Africa.

Captain Stevenson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stevenson, of Neshannock boulevard, has a wife and small daughter who are making their home with Mrs. Stevenson's parents in West Virginia. His letter, given nearly complete, reads as follows:

"Our unit arrived in North Africa about the time the big news broke over the States about the long-heralded 'second front.' In a few days, everything in the general area was well in hand, and although our living quarters were pup tents and our food the so-called 'iron-rations' of the army, we were fairly well off. The weather was hot and windy in the daytime and usually cool in the evening. Rain was frequent, but it came, happily at night, when we were a little bit under cover, and it was not heavy. Wish more could be said about the activity during the next few days, but that sort of thing must be told after the war.

Heavy Rains Come
"After moving several times, we finally got settled in our present location. After several days spent during fairly pleasant weather, the rains came—and heavy. We managed to collect some heavy tentage, and get some gravel down for the main walks in the area, and get the kitchen and supply sections set up before it got too bad, but it was a sorry mess at best. The soil here is peculiarly fine with practically no absorption. The water soaks completely the first two or three inches of soil, and under that layer it is apt to be perfectly dry. Mud about the consistency of chocolate puddings at the moment it is perfectly cooked forms and is very, very gooey. It acts not unlike axle grease underfoot, soaks the shoes completely, and will not be shaken off. Only a knife blade will do the trick, but then what's the use? Next time it happens all over again. We will never forget the mud and rain experienced in what we were always taught was a dry continent.

"As far as the actual fighting goes, our unit is not primarily concerned with that. We are a construction unit and so far have been spared the horrors of war. In visiting our sick men in half a dozen different hospitals from time to time, I have seen some of the results of man-made inferno. It's not nice.

Arabs In Huts
"As we have seen Africa," he writes, "it can best be described as a very fertile, flat coastal plain with up-to-date French people and almost pre-historic Arabs everywhere. The French live mainly in the larger towns while the Arabs live in mud huts in the most inaccessible places imaginable. . . . The French are more nearly like Americans than any other people we have met—including the English. The women, notably chic and well-dressed, have managed even after all this time to maintain their place in the sun. They surely are a sight for some eyes of every one of us."

"Oranges, tangerines, dates, figs and soon grapes, are very much in demand.

vidence. There is practically no wood. Their cars are low and small; their trucks are large and quite old. Many run on steam, using charcoal, while both cars and trucks sometimes use alcohol. Horse or mule-drawn Arabs ride or cluster up the wide macadam roads. Near the towns, trees usually line the highways, presumably for shade in the summer months. The burros that the Arabs ride or walk beside are unmercifully laden and beaten for no apparent reason. The Arabs are masters at loading down these small patient animals, some of which are only 3 feet high.

Varied Sights
"Beyond the narrow coastal plain a chain of mountains rises up and roughly parallels the coast line. Over the third of these three main ranges lies the Sahara. While I have made several trips over the first of the ranges, the remoteness of the sandy wastes has yet been permitted me. In going over the mountains—really foothills of the highest innermost range—one happens on the most varied and awe-inspiring sights describable. After topping one crest and winding down grade for several miles, we suddenly turned into a fertile valley that immediately reminded us of 'Shangri-La' of Lost Horizon fame. It was a natural cup tucked away among the hills into which the rain drained and converted it into a green paradise. Tangerine trees were arranged in neat orchards, fir-type trees, and olive trees lined the road, and it all looked so unlike the Africa we had been taught to expect. There were no guard rails and the road was very winding and the asphalt slippery when wet. Had some narrow squeaks, but no damage was done.

Money System Simple
"The money system is very simple. The franc is the unit, worth one and one-third cents. There are 100 centimes in the franc, but very little use for them—too small. The money is all paper notes, except for the 50-centime piece (silver) and the one and two franc pieces (copper). A five-franc piece was once made, but is almost unused now. The size is what amazes us. The five-franc note is 3 1/2 by 5 inches, and the various other denominations increase until the 1000-franc note attains a size of over 5 1/2 by 9 1/2 inches. The designs are very ornate and the printing work is done with a remarkable degree of skill. Both French and Arabic writing appears on every note.

"The language is preponderantly French, although Spanish will get you along, and if you really get them to do it, fully 90 per cent. (if not more) of the French people can speak English. They will do it though only as a last resort. My two years of high school French are serving me in good stead and I get along readily without an interpreter, although one comes in handy when by vocabulary fails me. The universal sign language has been helpful.

Children Beg
"Most of the school children are studying English and that helps. They feel so important when they say a few words to us in English. Kids are kids everywhere. To see them (the Arabs in particular) running around in their rags, tears a few heartstrings in me and makes me wish I personally could give all of them a new suit of clothes and a few toys. . . . Chocolate and chewing gum are in demand for grimy upheld hands wherever we stop. The smallest of them will beg for cigarette, too. Not only beg—they'll smoke them—regardless of their size.

"Getting back to food, we have had two sumptuous feasts of turkey in the last week. The Christmas turkey missed by two days getting here on time, and the New Year's turkey was on time. We really appreciated it, and our cooks did a magnificent job in cooking it. The usual good while very good and certainly adequate is inclined to become monotonous after while. I am told that a large amount of staples, such as butter, canned milk, and potatoes were put on the market for civilian use in a large town near us today. A wonderful gesture from America to Africa. The people here really appreciate that, believe me."

James L. Shaw Is Found Dead Today

"Cinderella Coach" Will Announce Decision Within Next Few Days

PHRASES $20,000 SALARY 'FANTASTIC'

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—Whether Clark D. Shaughnessy will take over the coaching reins at the University of Pittsburgh was a matter of keen speculation in this football-crazy town today, and most observers were inclined to believe that the veteran tutor would be at the helm of the Panthers by spring practice time.

Shaughnessy and Pitt Athletic officials held a number of lengthy conferences over the week-end, and the ex-Stanford coach returning to his present post at the University of Maryland after announcing that he expected to make his decision within a few days.

He explained that "because of premature breaking of the story of negotiations, I believe my decision should be made shortly."

He added that one report which said he had been offered $20,000 by Pitt was "fantastic."

"In fact, if such an offer was really made, I wouldn't be debating merits of the post," he said.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

Nick Etten Swan Mystery Thriller

Bigwigs Try To Figure Out How Star Was Waived Out Of N. L.

YANKEES PLUG FIRST BASE GAP

By JACK MAHON (International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The New York Yankees new first baseman, Nick Etten, today was rubbing his eyes like a man released from a dungeon, wondering just what stroke of good fortune had released him from the last place lease-holders of the National league—the Phillies; and around the baseball circuit the boys were trying to figure out just how Nicholas was ever waived out of the National loop.

In a deal which sent Pitcher Allan Gettel and First Baseman Ed Whitner Levy and cash to the Phils, President Ed Barrow of the Yankees acquired Etten and solved, temporarily, his first base headache.

Johnny Sturm and Tommy Henrich's departure last year left Cousin Ebert with a gaping hole at the initial sack and there were rumors the Yankees were after McQuinn of the Browns and Camilli of the National league's Brooklyn Dodgers.

Deals Fall Through The deal for the former, if there was a deal, fell through months ago and Camilli has decided to retire, it is the latter fact that caused many raised eyebrows around the lukewarm stove league here today.

If Camilli goes stick to his desire to quit why did Branch Rickey, head of the Dodgers, and Omar Horace Stoneman of the Giants allow Etten, a pretty good hitter, if not exactly the reincarnation of Hal Chase in the field, to be waived out of their loop?

Did this mean that The Brain and Camilli have reached an agreement, that Delf had been offered the job as Dodger manager if Leo Durocher is drafted, as expected? With First Baseman Johnny Mize also mentioned as possible draft bait why did the Giants let Nick roam over to the Yankee stadium?

Owner Stoneman of the Giants could not be reached for immediate comment.

Meanwhile Barrow has acquired a pretty fair sort of left-handed batter who may wake up with a bang in the American league. Nick who hails from Chicago hit 311 in his first season with the Phils in '41 and sank to 265 with the lackadaisical club that represented that fair city on the diamond last season.

He is 28 and served terms with the Davenport club of the Missouri Valley league and with Baltimore of the International before coming to the big show.

Colonel Will Accept Barney Ross Award

Guadalcanal Hero Won't Be On Hand For Writers' Fete On February 17

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Edward J. Neil memorial trophy, which was awarded by the New York Boxing Writers' Association to Corporal Barney Ross for the ex-ringer's heroic 14-hour stand at Guadalcanal, will be accepted for the one-time lightweight champ, February 17, by Colonel Harvey Miller, of the United States Marine Corps, it was revealed today.

Colonel Miller was once president of the National Boxing Association, and upon completion of his term in 1940, was named permanent executive secretary of that organization. He has been ranked among the greatest boxers ever seen in the navy, having held the lightweight and featherweight titles for years while he was in service afloat.

Millrose Games Entries Pile Up

Track And Field Extravaganza Headquarters Flooded With Invitations

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—It wasn't long ago that the track and field promoters were scratching their heads and trying to figure out where they were going to find runners to provide adequate fields for their winter attractions. They don't have to worry any more.

Fred Schmetz, chairman of the Millrose A. A. games, has been flooded by so many queries for invitations that he now is trying to trim the list so as to guarantee racing room for those who compete in the Millrose games at Madison Square Garden, February 9.

Particularly impressive were the challenges who wanted a crack at the famed Wanamaker mile. This field is usually limited to five or six starters. This year at least 10 qualified milers are available.

Star Field They are Gil Dodds of the Boston A. A.; Ensign Walt Miel; Frank Dixon, N. Y. U.; Jim Rafferty, N. Y. A. C.; Don Burnham, Dartmouth; Leroy Schwartzpouf, Yale; Earl Mitchell, Indiana (the beat Dodds last year); Tom Judge, Indiana; Gerald Karver, Penn State, and Tommy Quinn, Mich. Normal. The field will be closed this week.

There are also many other well-matched fields in the 600, 800, 60-yard sprint and many other events. Among the big names slated to compete are Gene Venzke, Hugh Short, Georgetown, Jimmy Herbert, Pvt. Norwood (Barney) Ewell, ex-Penn State ace and Pvt. Ralph Hammond, former Big Ten champ, and Ensign Fred Woolcott of Georgia pre-flight cadets.

The University of Michigan has filed an entry for the 600, the half mile run and the intercollegiate two-mile relay. Bob Ufer will carry the Wolverine colors for the first time in the 29-year history of the meet in the 600.

STATE WINS, 48-24 (International News Service) STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 25.—Colgate University's basketball quintet smarted today under a 48-24 drubbing administered to them Saturday night by Penn State on the Nittany Lions' home court.

Craine Seeks To Hit 1,000 Scoring Record At Darlington Tuesday

Colored Wampum Wizard Needs Only 6 Points To Establish Mark

CAGE CARD HERE HITS DULL LULL

Basketball history will be made Tuesday night at Darlington, "ifs" and "buts" notwithstanding.

In plain English, Coy "Springy" Craine, the local wizard of the court, seeks to run his high school scoring total to the amazing 1,000 mark!

In the event that Coach L. B. Hennon decides to bench the injury-riddled shicker, which doesn't seem likely, the toast of Wampum high will have to wait until the next game to see the realization of a dream that every high school cager entertains sometime or other.

At this writing, the wonder boy has planted 994 points through the iron rings since donning the regalia worn by the "Indians."

Sensational All Season

On the basis of Craine's showings thus far, he could very easily smash some kind of an individual record tomorrow night. In 14 games, 13 of 'em winners, the 19-year-old center has amassed 282 points at an average of 20.1 points a clash!

The mark has been recorded against a better than average range of adversaries.

Wampum's showing on the Darlington boards, because of Craine's attempt to reach the four figures highlights an otherwise dull cage card here.

In the lone Section 21 embroglio, Shenango Township plays host to Mt. Jackson in an afternoon brawl. The game was originally booked for last week but was postponed.

Shenango, conqueror over East Brook and Union Township, can gain on idle Bessemer for third place honors. The Jacks have not tasted league victory cake yet.

Bessemer, smacked down by New Wilmington and Wampum in successive order, hopes to regain its victory ways at the expense of Lowville, in the Ohio town, Triumphant over the Lowellvillers earlier this season, the "Cementers" should cap again.

The basketball date book lists East Brook, Union Township and New Wilmington as idle.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Monday wash: Tiny Wampum, inhabited by less than 1,000 persons, is captivated beyond explanation by the basketball feats of Coy "Springy" Craine. A stranger in town muffs the ball if he neglects mentioning the cage sport. . . .

You stop in the corner drug store for a cigar and during the process of lighting up the smoke, a conversation is born. The residents cunningly edges you into a sports topic and basketball. Adjectives fly freely as the speaker pays a little homage to L. B. Hennon and his star. . . .

It's almost game time and you walk the path leading to a new, beautiful gym, built on a knoll, a few yards from the main highway. You look and lift your eyebrows. The place is so jammed that an ant would experience difficulty strolling around. . . .

A little shifting around by school officials and you find yourself amid the Wampum cheering section. You look around and wonder. Everyone around is armed with pencil and paper! Craine sends the spheroid through, the rooters jot down an "x". . . .

New Castle Plays At Butler Tuesday

'Cane Dribblers Hopeful Of Jolting Seven-Game Losing Streak

Staggered by a seven game losing streak which dates back to December 22, New Castle high's cagers seek to regain their mental poise on Tuesday night when they journey to neighboring Butler to clash with Butler high's slumping passers.

Besides endeavoring to spatter one of the worst cage dilemmas in the history of the school, the 'Canes strive to erase a 42-30 drubbing posted by the Soapminers three days before Santa Claus rode the Skyline.

Since New Castle is a Section 3 member and the Moore-coached lads fling in Section 1, the contest will have no bearing on the WPIAL races.

Coach Bridenbaugh undoubtedly will shift his pupils around in hopes of putting his fingers on a more potent combination. With Burris slated to conclude his scholastic career at the conclusion of the first semester, the mentor seeks a replacement for the colored athlete.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Former Ellwood City high school basketball player has been cited for meritorious conduct in action in North Africa. He is Corporal Joseph Greco. A letter to Frank Mack of Pollock avenue, an uncle of the corporal, says the former basketballeer, serving with the U. S. infantry, was given the citation for "exceptional meritorious conduct in action in Algeria, November 8 when he volunteered to go into dangerous reconnaissance with occupants of other vehicles. While under enemy fire he removed wounded without regard for his personal safety."

Buff Donelli, coach at Duquesne, has applied for a commission as an athletic instructor in the navy. Clark D. Shaughnessy will decide within the next few days whether or not to accept a position as football coach at Pitt. Henry Luecht, coach at Mt. ## MAYOR DESIGNS A "HOSSY" PLAN (International News Service) HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 25.—Mayor Leo McLaughlin, who 10 years ago initiated the move to draw race horses to Oaklawn Park, was engaged in another horse roundup today, this time to solve the wartime gasoline and rubber shortage for the February 22 opening of the track.

"I'm going to try to get all those who own 'old dabbins' to fetch them from the hay and clover fields, polish up the old harness and hitch them to any movable conveyance so that we can get the patrons to Oaklawn Park," the mayor said. "It should be easy."

Donelli Seeks To Join Navy

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25.—Often-repeated rumors that Duquesne university may abandon football were revived again today as Coach Aldo T. "Buff" Donelli admitted that he had applied for an athletic instructor's commission in the Navy.

Donelli was scheduled to report this morning for his physical examination.

The administration refused to comment on Donelli's plans, but did deny the rumors again. A spokesman said the Dukes did not intend to give up the autumn sport.

Donelli's contract expires on March 1. During the four years that he has been piloting the Dukes, his teams have won 29 games, lost four and tied one. Last season was his worst, when his boys won six, dropped three and tied one.

N. Y. PUCK CHASERS GET A WHITE WASH

(International News Service) The Detroit Red Wings climbed back into second place in the National Hockey League standings today by blanking the New York Rangers, 7 to 0 in Detroit last night.

Even defenseman Alex Motter, who seldom scores, made a solo dash and slapped the puck into the net in the first period. To gain the shutout, Goalie Johnny Mowers kicked 21 shots out of the Red Wings' net. It was Mowers fourth shutout of the season which virtually gives him the Vezina trophy for net-minding honors.

"I certainly won't guarantee to win any game or percentage of games. I believe Pittsburgh is a center of football interest, that there is a fine opportunity here, and if other matters are satisfactory, I will welcome the chance to tackle it."

Shaughnessy revealed that he had no written contract with the University of Maryland, saying "I have always had a full professorship everywhere I coached. I feel that if I want to leave after one year, two years or any term, I am free to do so."

He added that Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of Maryland, showed some resentment over the news that he may leave the Terps, but explained that this was caused by the premature disclosure of the negotiations.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The brain swung back and forth in his comfortable swivel chair, pausing every now and then to take a long drag on the thick brown cigar that he clenched between his stubby fingers and to listen as one of the baseball writers asked a question.

The room was covered with a curtain of blue smoke. It always is when Branch (The Brain) Rickey calls the scribes together to talk over the destinies of those famed baseball "bums"—Brooklyn's own Dodgers.

Having informed the mob of all pertinent ball news, The Brain eased back and said: "Boys, now I want to ask a question. Just where did this name 'Dodgers' originate?"

Explanations Fired

In a moment four or five explanations were fired at Rickey in which it was claimed (1) There were so many trolley lines in Brooklyn that the outfielders had to watch for them while chasing fly balls (there being no fence in the old days); (2) The trolley lines ran through the outfield; (3) Because there were so many people injured by trolleys in the old days the expression "Trolley-Dodgers" became popular.

Sid Mercer, dean of the New York baseball writers who is suspected of having ghosted the constitution, finally got the floor and explained to The Brain that a newspaperman, to the best of his knowledge, substituted "Dodgers" for the former nickname of the club, the Superbas which had been tagged on it during the run of a popular vaudeville act of the early 1900's.

"The reason I ask," continued The Brain, "is because I would like to have an insignia adopted for the boys to wear on their uniforms. You know I designed the two Cardinals mounted on a bat which the St. Louis club wears. The Chicago Cubs have two bears and so forth. I think Brooklyn should have some trademark, but I'll be dashed if I can think of one that would symbolize Dodgers. Can you boys suggest any?"

Rickey was trapped. That was like asking a baby if it wanted another peppermint stick and in a moment the usually court-like session became a bedlam. Everyone in the room but the goldfish fired suggestions at The Brain and there was so much noise even they might have submitted a few that no one could hear.

"Why not design a streamlined straightjacket?" was the first. "I think you should use heads of Durocher and George Raft," added another wit.

"A drawing of the old men's home wouldn't be bad," advised a grumbler from the corner.

"Our paper once ran a contest to see if fans wanted a new name," volunteered a youthful scribe, and "Aces" was the choice.

Before Rickey could answer, an older writer leaned over and whispered to the Brain, "I know, Rickey. Come on. That smacks of gambling young man."

The Brain finally restored order and said: "I do not intend to change the name. I only want a symbol. Maybe some sort of a bird will do eh?"

"You won't need any birds over in flatbush," replied another scribe. "Wait till you hear the first one at Ebbets Field. That will be enough for you."

"Do you intend to have a vice-president in charge of insignias, Mr. Rickey?" asked the venerable Mercer. This was too much and Rickey waved for order.

Offers Pass

"I see I have started something," he said, "but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll offer a lifetime pass to the person who submits the best design for the Dodgers that we accept and use. That ought to produce something."

The Brain doesn't know the half of it. The mailmen will look like the alumni of the hunchbacks of Notre Dame for the next few weeks carrying bales of letters into the Brooklyn offices.

"I know how important a thing like this is to Brooklyn," concluded The Brain, "and how serious the folks take their baseball here. I understand there is a society for the prevention of disparaging remarks about Brooklyn. I want to join that."

"Get out your check-book, yelled a voice from the rear of the room. 'You're in.'"

CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN

(International News Service)

FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, Ind., Jan. 25.—Bobby Dorr, superintendent at Wrigley Field, was expected to arrive in French Lick Springs today to start construction on the spring training diamond for the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs practice field will be near the bathhouse of the French Lick Springs hotel. The Chicago White Sox will train nearby.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Now is no time to lie down on the job of keeping America supplied with War Materials. This fight is just beginning and each and every person must do all they can to keep up their particular part. Some must go to the fronts, some must work in the mills, some must stay around and do jobs that keep the population a neighborhood, but all must do their job with the feeling that each little bit helps the final effort. Your little War Bond helps don't you think it doesn't. Just because the chap across the street can buy more than you doesn't mean that your bit doesn't count. Keep up the good work and see to it that your neighbor keeps in trim too. Especially that he keeps going to his War Job each and every day that he is supposed to work. Too many men and women feel that they can take the day off whenever they feel so inclined. Vacations are something that can be dreamed about and should not be taken only with the special permission of the employer. Don't take time off from your war job just because you feel that it's too much trouble to get up. What do your brothers in the Armed Forces think about that.

Friday night of this week there will be another graduation exercises at the Cathedral... About 185 seniors from the Local High School will become members of that famous group called the Alumni... Some of the young men and women who graduate with this class have been enrolled in Colleges near and far... they took their finals early and have been working at college for two or three weeks. Some of these seniors will before long be enrolled with Uncle Samuel... making the God-loving countries a safe place in which to live. Better plan on attending Friday night.

Did you ever see such weather in all your life... it's against the laws to talk about it too much but it sure makes you wonder. This should relieve the folks down east who have been running low on fuel oil... but probably before they can save much fuel it will again turn chilly. Funny how mother nature does things.

Don't forget the classified ad page... it will make you a little extra cash that can be used to help things along... Everyone can use little extra amounts. So why not plan on reading this page more often... there just might be something you need or maybe someone needs something you have.

Chaplains Praise Fighters' Faith

Returned Naval Chaplains Describe Sea Battles And Religious Services

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Two navy chaplains who saw service in the Solomon islands and African campaigns—Comdr. James V. Claypool and Lieut. Rescott B. Wintersteen—told on Saturday of the fighting men's faith in God and their own strong right arms. The chaplains were interviewed at the third naval district headquarters in connection with a special church week-end.

Commander Claypool was aboard a battleship that fought against Japanese aerial attackers and later surface ships. Religious services preceded and followed both engagements.

"We were under air attack at one time for two hours," he said, "and brought down many enemy planes. In spite of the heavy assault and one direct hit, not one man left his post."

Narrow Escape
One 500-pound bomb, he said, struck a gun turret only a few feet above him, but I didn't realize how close it was until several days later. Speaking of the surface action, he said:

"It lasted two hours. We were firing continuously and being hit continuously. Not a man left his station, although in some locations only one man remained."

"I stayed in the sick bay when the casualties were brought down. There was no hysteria, only some means of pain. The more seriously wounded just gripped their cots. I was helping the men in and out of stretchers, and was bloody from neck to foot, at one time I was the only officer below, as the others had to go topside for action."

"What the wounded men wanted was a firm show of confidence. Even prayer was silent as I knelt beside them."

Chaplains Exhausted
Catholic and Protestant services, he said, were arranged on the various ships by exchanging chaplains before an anticipated action. Attendance after a battle often was larger than before, he said.

Lieut. Wintersteen, who was aboard a warship in the North African landing, said:

"Before the battle I went through the remote parts of the front and found the men in good spirits, but deadly serious."

"I was originally stationed on the navigator's bridge. But I was given permission to go below decks to inform men of the progress of the action. The battle lasted three days and often the men were at their posts 36 hours at a time. We were attacked by planes, submarines, cruisers and destroyers. We suffered near-misses that sent water spouting 200 feet high. But we were not hit directly."

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 19 DIVIDEND INCOME

Among the forms of income received by many taxpayers is that of dividends. Because of the wide distribution of investment securities, many persons have income of this character, even though often small in amount. Such income must be reported for Federal income tax purposes to the extent that it represents taxable income.

Income from dividends is entered on line 2 of the return Form 1040. Dividends in general represent distributions of earnings and profits by a corporation or association to its shareholders, and constitute taxable income. In certain cases, however, such as the liquidation of a bank or other corporation, dividends may represent a distribution of the shareholders' original investment, and to that extent would not constitute income, but a return of original capital, and accordingly would not be taxable.

In certain cases, also, such as that of mining companies declaring dividends out of depletion reserves, the dividend may represent wholly or partially a return of investment. Persons receiving dividends of this character are usually advised by the corporation as to the amount which it considers to be non-taxable as a return of capital. It is appropriate for the taxpayer to enter in his return the amounts received in accordance with the advice by the corporation, but it should be borne in mind that the determination of the taxable amount may be subject to revision as a result of official audit of the corporation's return.

Dividends on share accounts in Federal savings and loan associations on shares issued prior to March 28, 1942, are exempt from normal tax, but must be included in surtax net income for surtax purposes. Dividends on share accounts with respect to shares issued on or after March 28, 1942, are subject to both normal tax and surtax.

For taxpayers on a cash basis, that is, reporting income as received, and expenses as paid, dividend income is reported as received. Dividend income is considered as received when the dividend check is received, irrespective of when the taxpayer may cash the check.

"Loans up to $400 may be obtained for the planting, production and harvesting of 1943 crops," he said. "We are urging all farmers to plant food crops this year in order that this county may achieve the goal set for it by the Department of Agriculture."

Emanuel Church Dedicates Flags

Three flags, Service, Christian and American flags, were dedicated Sunday morning in Emanuel Evangelical church with the pastor, Rev. C. W. Dietrich, giving the history and symbolism of each flag as it was dedicated. The flags were given to the church by its members.

As the American flag was dedicated first, the choir sang, "His Truth Is Marching On," after which the boys and girls of the primary class gave the salute to the flag. Mrs. Helen Thompson sang, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," as the Christian flag was dedicated and the junior boys and girls gave the salute to the Christian flag.

In the dedication of the Service flag, the roll of boys in service, 11 from this church, was called with the relatives of each boy standing and telling where he is now located and how long he has been in service. A prayer of dedication followed and the service closed with the congregation singing, "Let the Church March On," "God and Country" was the general theme for this dedication service.
